Focusing on clean drinking water in Africa

Please join us at Water For People's "Malawi: The Warm Heart of Africa" photographic exhibit. The exhibit features compassionate scenes of everyday life in Malawi as seen by Denver-based photographer, Tim Ryan. His images capture situations that tell a story about real people coping with life in their environment and communicate the struggle they face with scarce water resources. This interactive, awareness event will prove to be very informative as we reflect on the millions of people in Africa living in impoverished and unhealthy conditions due to lack of access to clean and safe water.
